If it is medically necessary and coordinated through your PCP, services outside your network will be covered the same as if you were going to a provider in your network.

Is a high-value network HMO right for me?

It’s a good choice for people who are willing to use certain doctors and healthcare facilities in exchange for lower costs. Your PCP plays a valuable role by providing you with many of your healthcare services. A referral is not required to see a specialist, though your PCP can assist you in finding the care you need. Your PCP keeps an eye on your total healthcare picture and is the point person anytime you have a health problem. Preventive care like annual checkups, flu shots and screenings are covered at 100 percent at your PCP’s office.
